

Graduate School of Business (Master's Course)
Diploma Policy	The Master's Course in the Graduate School of Business confers a Master's degree (in Business Management) to a student who has been enrolled in the Master's Course for at least two years, earned the required minimum number of 32 credits for completion of the Master's Course, passed the prescribed Master's thesis review, and acquired the following knowledge and abilities: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> (1) The necessary basic education for thriving as a researcher in business management (2) The ability to solve practical problems that occur in corporate settings (3) The ability to design and improve business management systems (4) The basic abilities required to thrive as a tax accountant, accountant, or other specialized professional
Curriculum Policy	The educational curriculum of the Master's Course in the Graduate School of Business is built around the following elements: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> (1) A course system (comprising the Management and Manufacturing Systems Course and the Accounting and Finance Course) that serves to deepen students' expertise in a systematic fashion (2) A two-year program for guided research, tailored to each student's research topic (3) Practical education, incorporating instruction by guest lecturers active in the corporate/professional spheres
Admission Policy	Students intending to enroll in the Master's Course in the Graduate School of Business should have the basic requisite abilities for studying in the Master's Course and the following passions and ambitions: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> (1) A passion for understanding and utilizing the principles of high-quality organizational management (2) An eagerness to identify issues in real-life business management and tackle potential solutions (3) A strong, deep interest in the real world, a thirst for inquiry, and the ambitious drive to launch a business as a form of self-actualization (4) An ambition to become an accounting expert who can energize the practice and focus on management processes

Graduate School of Business (Doctoral Course)
Diploma Policy	The Doctoral Course in the Graduate School of Business confers a Doctoral degree (in Business Management) to a student who has been enrolled in the Doctoral Course for at least three years, passed the prescribed review of a doctoral dissertation pertaining to his or her specialization under the guidance of an advisor, and acquired the ability to produce original research results in a specific field of business management.
Curriculum Policy	The educational curriculum of the Doctoral Course in the Graduate School of Business is built around the following elements: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> (1) Developing originality in the field of business management through a three-year program of guided research and dissertation writing and improving students' abilities to produce research results grounded in logical thinking (2) Guiding students through the process of presenting their research at academic conferences/meetings of research societies and writing at least one peer-reviewed academic paper over the course of the three-year program, thereby improving students' abilities to organize and present their research results in a logical fashion (3) Providing students with organizational support for acquiring advanced specialized knowledge and far-reaching scholarly expertise through lecture subjects in business management, accounting, and management finance theory, thereby facilitating growth in the above research abilities
Admission Policy	Students intending to enroll in the Doctoral Course in the Graduate School of Business should, having already completed the Master's Course, demonstrate the following passions and ambitions: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> (1) A passion for understanding the principles of high-quality organizational management and contributing to the development of research on business management (2) A strong, deep interest in and curiosity about the real world and an ambition to tackle solutions to unsettled issues in corporate operations and business management (3) An ambition to tackle unsettled issues in the field of business management and explore new theoretical horizons